

The Blood of Jesus Christ

The actual, literal blood of Jesus Christ is the price that was paid for forgiveness and salvation.

It is called "incorruptible" blood in I Peter 1:23. It was unlike any other blood.

It is now definitely known that the blood which flows in an unborn baby's arteries and veins is not derived from the mother, but is produced within the body of the unborn baby. Not one single drop of blood ever passes from mother to child. It is blood that was not given by the mother; Since Jesus had no earthly, physical father, and since the new unborn forms their own blood in and of their own bodies, therefore, Jesus' blood was unlike any other! As the Bible says, it was sinless! 'Incorruptible!' The Lord's blood Justifies, "being now justified by blood,"

Issues

Blended, Blurred & Breakdown MUSIC

"In The Rise and Fall of Historic Fundamentalism, we made the following statement:

"This gray area consists of a weakened message, a contemporary-shaped melody, a constant usage of suave dissonances, men singing pretty like women, women singing soft and sensual, dreamy surrealistic orchestrations, and the adopting of syncopated accompaniments. This can never happen in Christian music unless the world has become a part 'in heart' of the musician's perspective of Christianity'. (p 25)"

- Dr. H. T. Spence (copied from The Fundamentalist Digest, Dr. Don Jasmin)

What is Salvation?

"Do then, my dear friend, take up at once right views of the design of the work of Christ. You are to look to Him for salvation. But what is salvation? Not pardon only; not mere absolution from punishment; not merely deliverance from the bottomless pit. These blessings are, I admit, a part of it, but they are only a part; salvation means the crucifixion of your flesh with its affections and lusts, the mortification of your corrupt nature. The Salvation which the gospel offers is not only a future deliverance from hell, but a present deliverance from sin; not only a rescue from punishment, but a restoration to favor; and not only a restoration to favor of God, but also (a restoration) to His image." - John Angell James

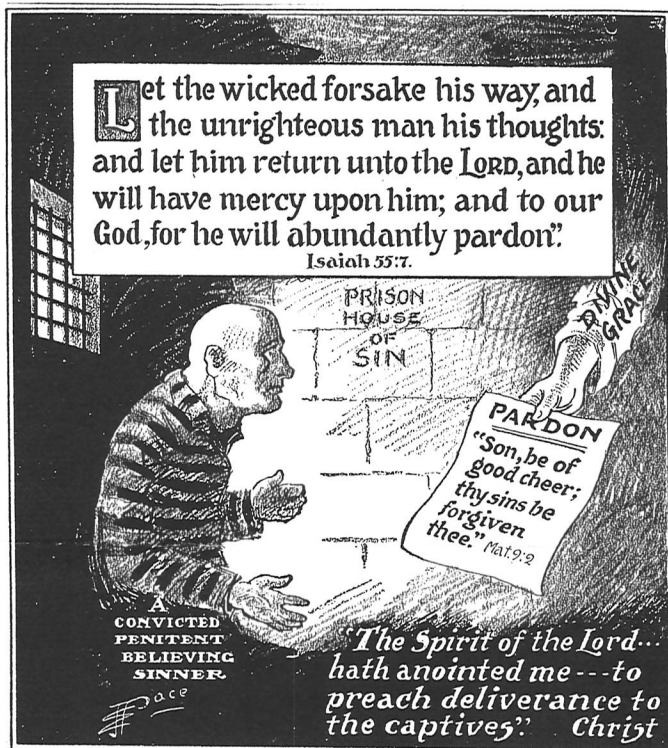

MEN & WOMEN

"Police records show that no women ever shot her husband while he was doing the dishes."

"A new study shows that women who are a little overweight live longer than men who remind them about it."

(Romans 5:9); Redeems!, "redeemed ... with the precious blood of Christ", (I Peter 1:19); it is the means for God's Forgiveness!, being 'cleansed', 'washed', "washed us from our sins in his own blood", (Revelation 1:5c; I John 1:7b). And, at Jesus' Second Coming He will be wearing a garment dipped in blood! (Revelation 19:13).

Quotes

There is no right way to do a wrong thing!

"One way to help the church is by attending it."

"Church gives people what they need.
Society gives them what they want."

"LUCK is the false god of fatalism for people who don't want to be thankful to God."

"Nothing important has changed."

"Feather by feather the goose is plucked."

"The sins of today are the sorrows of tomorrow."

During this time of fearfulness because of the Coronavirus, people who ignored God previously, should they really expect Him to answer when they pray now?

"Las Vegas is closed down because of the Coronavirus. What kind of person is unhappy about this?"

Politics & Faith

"Christians and atheists always bring their values and views with them to the political arena.

If a person is an atheist, we have reason to expect certain things of him.

If a person is a Christian, you need not expect him to govern like an atheist if he gets elected to office.

The liberals pressure Christians to leave their faith at home, but they don't leave their beliefs behind.

Any attempt to isolate your politics from your faith is an exercise in futility (and compromise). It is in reality impossible." - copied

How to make 'Tares'

"If you leave out conviction & repentance, and jump over them to faith in Christ, you have created a tare!"

David's 'Horror'

"Horror hath taken hold upon me, because of the wicked that forsake thy law." - Psalm 119:53

"Here is, 1. The character of wicked people; he means those who are openly and grossly wicked; they forsake the law. Every sin is a transgression of the law, but a course and way of willful and avowed sin is downright forsaking it and throwing it off.

2. The impression which the wickedness of the wicked had upon David; it frightened him, it put him into an amazement: he trembled to think of the dishonor thereby done to God, the gratification thereby given to Satan, and the mischiefs thereby done to the souls of men. He dreaded the consequences of it, both to the sinners themselves (and cried out, O gather not my soul with sinners, let mine enemy be as the wicked,), and to the interests of God's kingdom among men, which he was afraid would be hereby sunk and ruined. He does not say, 'Horror has taken hold on me', because of their cruel designs against me (David), but 'because of the contempt they put on God and His law. Sin is a monstrous horrible thing in the eyes of all that are sanctified; Jeremiah 2:12, 5:30, 23:14, Hosea 6:10."

- Matthew Henry

"But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voice, and I will be your God, and ye shall be my people: and walk ye in all the ways that I have commanded you, that it may be well with you." - Jeremiah 7:23 (II Corinthians 6:17-18)

The Promise of His Coming

"But one of the most flagrant sins in Christendom which scripture has marked out, is the 'evil servant,' saying 'in his heart, My Lord delayeth his coming.' It is not openly denying the doctrine, and joining the infidel in scoffing, and saying, Where is the promise of His coming?"

But, while professedly holding the doctrine, to so let slip the hope as to indulge in fleshly lusts and worldly associations, because in heart such believe He is not coming for some time yet.

It must then be a deeply important matter, that we make no mistake as to the true state of our hearts, that we are day by day so taken up by faith with Christ Himself in heaven, as to desire to see His face; that His coming again is such a hope to our souls that we are practically acting like those, who, having heard the midnight cry, are going out to meet Him." - copied

The Necessity for God's Wrath

Divine wrath is Divine Holiness in activity.

Wrath is one of the Divine perfections. If God did not punish evildoers He would be a party to evil doing, He would compromise with wickedness, He would condone sin.

Of necessity God is a God of Wrath.

Consider an argument from the less to the greater. In the human sphere, he who loves purity and chastity and has no wrath against impurity and unchastity is a moral leper.

He who pities the poor and defenseless, and has no wrath against the oppressor who crushes the weak and slays the defenseless, but loves them too, is a fiend.

Divine wrath is Divine Holiness in activity.

Because God is holy He hates sin, and because He hates sin His anger burns against the sinner. As it is written,

'Thou hatest all workers of iniquity' (Psalm 5:5).

And again, 'God is angry with the wicked every day' (Psalm 7:11).'" - copied feeding the sheep, the church will have clowns entertaining the goats." Charles Spurgeon

Charles Wesley's Unwise Child Training

Charles Wesley, who together with his brother John founded the Methodist denomination, was a brilliant but pious musician. He wrote an incredible 6,500 hymns, many of which are still sung around the world in a multitude of languages. He has been called 'the hymn-writer of all ages.' He married Sarah Gwynne and their happy union produced eight children, only three of whom survived infancy. These were Sarah, Charles Jr., and Samuel. Charles and Samuel were musical prodigies. By age eight, Samuel was composing complex musical scores. He was even called the 'English Mozart'.

Charles showed them off on tours. He sent them to live with unbelievers and weak Christians to be trained, ignoring God's warning in I Corinthians 15:33, 'Be not deceived: 'evil communications corrupt good manners.' He also ignored his brother

John's warnings. 'John Wesley warned his brother of the potential dangers and especially of the pressure being placed upon Charles by prominent individuals to send his sons to Europe's finest music teachers. But these warnings went unheeded. During those days when a child prodigy was furthered in his education, he lived with the teacher for many months at a time, as Charles' sons did at a young age.

Living with such teachers instilled not only their knowledge of music but also their daily manner of living and their religious philosophy" (H.T. Spence, Confronting Contemporary Christian Music, p. 145, Foundations Press). By their late teens, the boys were rejecting the faith of their father. They did not seek God's will or live for His glory, using their talents for their own pleasure and profit. Charles never married and wrote music for Catholic masses. Samuel committed fornication before marriage, then left his wife for a teenage servant girl and had four children with her, though never marrying.

He converted to Roman Catholicism and wrote a mass dedicated to Pope Pius VI. At the time, his father sorrowfully wrote that joining Rome was 'to plunge into the dark abyss and cast his soul away.' But the father had helped pave the way for this apostasy by capitulating to 'the pride of life' in regard to his sons' extraordinary abilities and by disregarding the Bible's warnings about evil communications."

The Good in Afflictions

"I am afraid that all the grace I have got out of my comfortable and easy times and happy hours might almost lie of a penny. But the good that I have received from my sorrows and pains and griefs is altogether incalculable.

What do I not owe to the hammer and the anvil, the fire and the file!

Affliction is the best bit of furniture in my house."
